Dream big: I love my new home. It has everything my husband and I were looking for—an open floor plan, 9-foot-high ceilings, and a finished basement. But it doesn't have a deck or much storage. And, come to think of it, the only crown molding in the house is in the dining room, and it comes to an abrupt halt three-quarters of the way around the room. (Don't ask me why.) The house that had "everything we wanted" has now become our pet project. We know that with a few tweaks here and some updates there, we can turn it into our dream home. We're excited about the challenge.

If you're also dreaming about giving your home a fresh look, you've come to the right place. This issue is jam-packed with amazing makeovers, from the gorgeous California home that graces our cover (page 52) to the trio of spa-like baths (starting on page 80) that promise a blissful escape from the world. We also showcase three stunning kitchens (pages 62, 68, and 108) and take you on a tour of an outdoor retreat in Oregon (above and page 114) that is as warm and inviting as any indoor room.

And if you're not quite ready to call in a contractor, that's OK. Take my lead as I pull up a chair on the concrete slab that will one day be my two-tier deck. Sit back, relax—and start dreaming.

A concrete slab serves as a base for Jane and Kameron Maxwell's new terrace, which sits at the same level as the interior rooms. Tons of soil were hauled in to level the sloping ground.
