

Super Super-Bowl Party
8 Crowd-Pleasing Recipes

Only
$1.99

Woman's Day®

Our Best Diet Ever

Lose weight now (& keep it off)

Save More on Groceries

30 MINUTES
THAT CAN CHANGE
YOUR LIFE

What Vitamins Do
YOU Really Need?

Look 10 Years
Younger Page 56

Oh-So-Good
Desserts
To Dig Into

03460

FEBRUARY 1, 2007
U.S. $1.99

womansday.com

100s of Recipes & Useful Tips

free recipe cards

A woman with curly hair, wearing a blue ribbed sweater and jeans with a large belt buckle, is smiling and cutting a melon on a wooden cutting board in a kitchen. The kitchen features white cabinets, a granite countertop, and a window with a clock. There are various items on the counter, including a bowl of fruit, a pitcher of water, and a vase of pink flowers. The text 'fade to white' is overlaid in large blue letters.

fade to white

WE'VE ALWAYS LOVED Luciana Pampalone's style. The New York City-based commercial photographer and painter (she's shot for Woman's Day, InStyle and Country Living, just to name a few) always infuses her photography with a soft, light perspective that makes even the mundane look pretty. So when she decided to make over her weekend getaway house, a pine log cabin in Pennsylvania's Pocono Mountains, we knew the result would reflect an artist's vision.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY LUCIANA PAMPALONE